Taylor Institute for Teaching and Learning

The Taylor Institute for Teaching and Learning is dedicated to better understanding and improving student learning at UCalgary.

Our mission is to strengthen teaching and learning communities, cultures and practices to create extraordinary learning experiences.

We offer diverse programs, courses, workshops, events, resources and other activities to build evidence-based teaching and learning knowledge and expertise at the University of Calgary.

Open to academic staff, graduate students, postdoctoral scholars and staff at the University of Calgary, these powerful learning opportunities are developed to help you realize your potential as a leader and educator, and the advantages of a campus-wide peer network.

UNIVERSITY OF CALGARY

taylorinstitute.ucalgary.ca

Explore upcoming offerings

University of Calgary Teaching and Learning Grants and Scholars Program

Designed to provide support to enhance student learning experiences through the integration of teaching, learning and research, and to support faculty as they develop educational leadership capacity.

taylorinstitute.ucalgary.ca/grants-and-scholars-program

Academic Staff Certificate in University Teaching and Learning

An opportunity to develop research-informed and scholarly teaching expertise, reflect on your practice and build your teaching dossier.

taylorinstitute.ucalgary.ca/academic-staff/certificate

Conference on Postsecondary Learning and Teaching April 26 – 28, 2023

Since 2013, the University of Calgary Conference on Postsecondary Learning and Teaching has been hosted annually by the Taylor Institute for Teaching and Learning. We provide an opportunity for faculty, students, postdoctoral scholars, librarians and staff to share, critically examine and build on our collective knowledge of teaching and learning.

taylorinstitute.ucalgary.ca/conference

Programs and courses

Explore our full course offerings through our course calendar and develop your full potential at UCalgary.

conted.ucalgary.ca/taylor/

Questions? Contact taylorinstitute@ucalgary.ca